

SOC 4 Layer Computer System

This diagram shows the four layers for an application for customers who are on the river all day on guided fishing trips. They are rarely able to leave their location to return to dock for food. This system will allow them to order during their trip on the river and have someone bring them their snacks and food based on their river location and boat ID number.

